THEY'RE THE Humans OF HEDLAND

They're a mixture of long-term residents, of those born and bred in town, and new arrivals. They've shared their stories of how they arrived and their first impressions. Others have talked about growing up as kids and the fun they had.

We've heard about starting something new and of business success. Some have found love. But the common theme through every story is of a welcoming and supportive community. Port Hedland – we're better together
